HEA's School of Frontline Missions - 2024 Graduation...

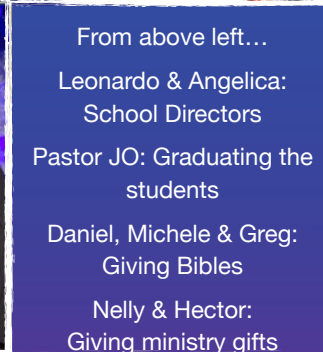

What a blessing it was to have our dear friend, Pastor Jonathan Owens, challenging the students to go out as World Changers!! At HEA we are all about reproducing native missionaries and returning them into the hands of their own national leaders as cutting edge tools to press into the harvest!!

Preparing native missionaries to preach the gospel to their own people in their own countries in their own languages!!

All students are hand picked for our school by their own pastors. The pastor and student go through a 4 hour interview with our staff to determine if they will be one of the 20 students that we choose. They come and live at our center until they graduate.

One month before the graduation, we bring the pastors back into our center. We help them prepare their churches for the new church planting vision as they get ready to receive their new missionaries.

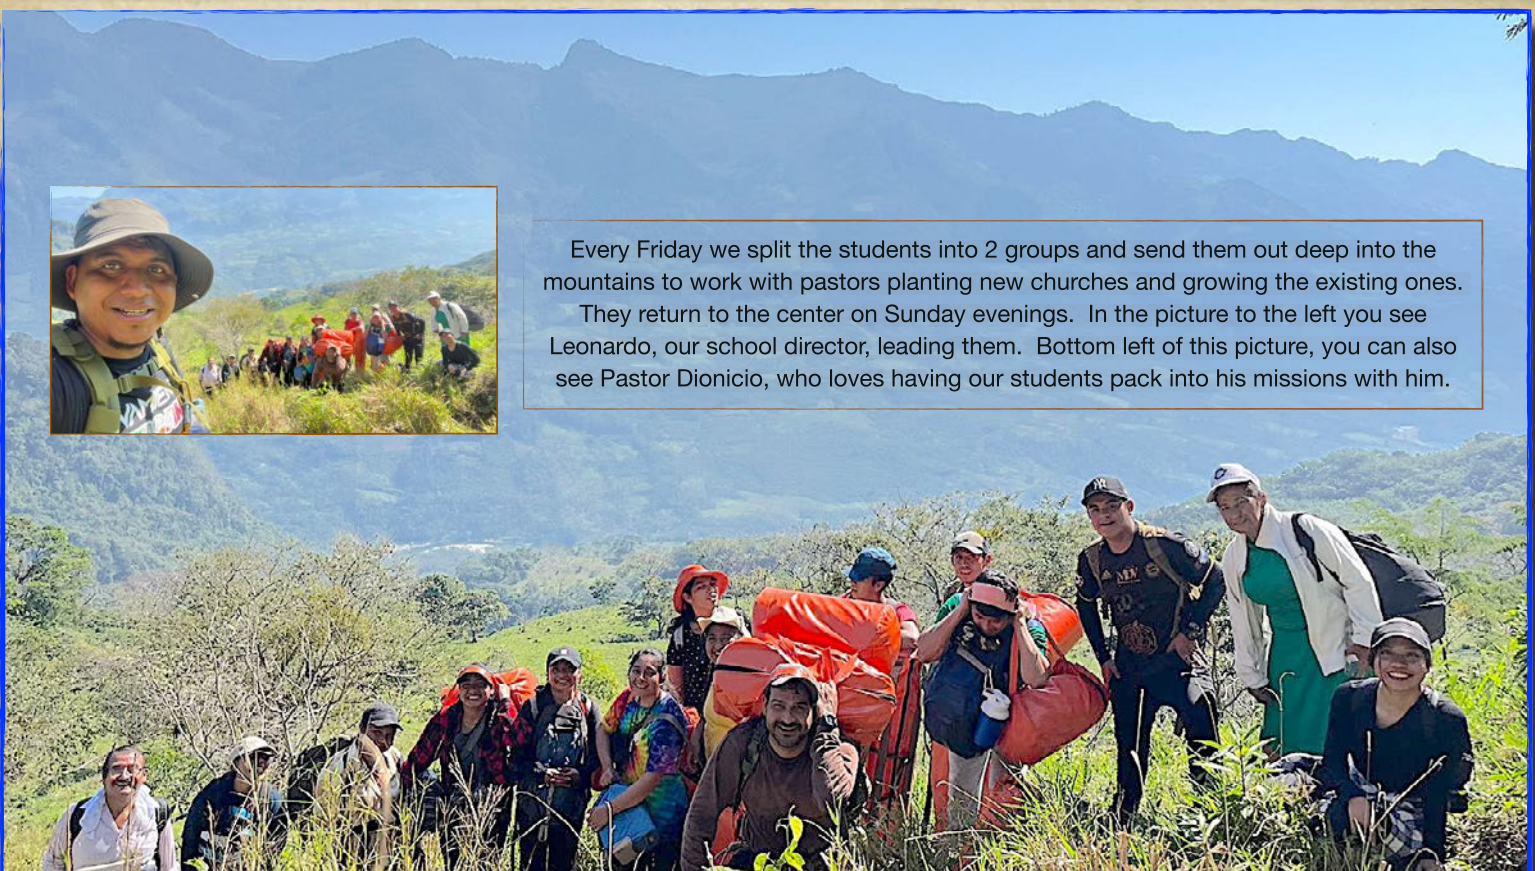

Greg preparing the pastors to help their people encounter their call and pursue their purpose. Working together with their new missionary, they can plant a new mission in a home in every single community within 10 km of their church!

The students spend the school year living and studying at HEA's World Missions Operations Center in Southern Mexico. Although the majority of our students have been sent to us from all over Mexico, we have also had students sent to our school from church leaders in Argentina and Colombia. The leader in Colombia has sent 6 students through our school over 4 years. He learned of our school while he was preaching a conference in Mexico. He saw how passionate the young leaders in that church were and asked the Mexican pastor about it and he told him that they were graduates from our school. In his first interview he told us that the Lord has put it on his heart to plant 100 churches in Colombia over the next 10 years and that our school was key to that!

Every Friday we split the students into 2 groups and send them out deep into the mountains to work with pastors planting new churches and growing the existing ones. They return to the center on Sunday evenings. In the picture to the left you see Leonardo, our school director, leading them. Bottom left of this picture, you can also see Pastor Dionicio, who loves having our students pack into his missions with him.

~ We truly need your help ~

With the growth of the ongoing ministries of HEA over the years as well as the very sharp increase in costs of everything due to inflation, we need a very large increase in monthly support.

Also, many dear friends of HEA who had generously supported the ministry over the years have now joined their Lord and Savior in heaven. They have truly planted an eternal heritage that will stand for all eternity. They are all greatly missed by all of us here at HEA. We look forward to the day we will see them all again!

Would you please consider joining us as a World Harvest Partner? Just set up recurring monthly giving to help us keep reaching the lost and planting churches around the world.
